Judge J. Calvin Ewing's 775-acre farm, south of the village, sold to the county for an experiment farm, will not be operated as an experiment farm this summer. The farm comprises several tracts of land and there is a cloud on the title of one of them. To clear the title will require court proceedings taking several months. Judge Ewing will operate the farm the coming summer and turn the property over to the county after the crops are harvested in the fall.

Now is the time to clean up about the yard and lawn. All the dead parts of vines and shrubbery should be removed, the fence straightened up if need be, flower beds laid out and made, and perhaps a few shade trees planted. Native trees, especially those grown in the rather open places often thrive best and make the most desirable shade trees. In case a lawn is to be started this spring it should be done without further delay. A desirable lawn grass mixture for one acre can be made by mixing 45 pounds of pure Kentucky blue grass seed, 5 pounds of red top and 3 pounds of white clover. Rake the seed in well and roll lightly. Probably there are worn or bare spots on the lawn that need repairing. Cover such areas with an inch or two of well rotted manure, spread deeply, stamp lightly, and sow with lawn seed. Rake well and roll. If possible, these areas should be kept moist.—Ex.

A newspaper is dependent to a great extent upon the public as a source of news and appreciates any legitimate items that may be given or cues that may lead to the procuring of a news item. However, it has no use for the person who purposely gives information that is untrue. In order to protect the newspapers from imposition of this kind, Ohio has a very stringent law providing a fine of not exceeding $500 or imprisonment for six months, or both, upon conviction for the offense of knowingly giving a newspaper an item that is untrue.

MENDING.

Mending up the old things,
Trying to make them last;
Everything we value most
Is wearing out so fast.
Mending up the old things,
Trying to make them do;
Times are very hard to buy
The gaudy and the new,
Mending up the old hearts that beat
With love so long,
Mending them with laughter and the
Lilting of a song!
Mending up the troubles,
Trying to make them seem
Once again like bubbles
Blowing through a dream.
Mending up the heartache,
Mending up with care,
So the spirit will not seem
So mendicant and bare.
Mending up the sunshine that used to
Glow so sweet,
And mending all the faded flowers life
scatters at our feet!
Mending up the places
Rent and ripped and torn;
Mending up the twilight
Till it turns to sunny morn.
Making old things over
Out of all that's past;
Days that once were clover,
Trying to make them last,
Mending all the old hearts with kindness
and with cheer,
Mending them with sunbeams to help
to hide the tear!

Get the Cheerful Habit.

Men and women should make it a part of their daily walk to put as much joy and as little bitterness into the lives of those about them. It is a joy indeed to come into contact with sweet-spirited men and women—people who care for their fellows and companions, who wish to speed a better day among men. There is plenty of room for improvement. There are far too many who, loaded down with the cares of life, go about crabbed, thoughtlessly tramping upon toes of those about them, saying and doing little things which hurt, more perhaps in the long run, the perpetrators, but doing injury just the same. This can be changed and with no great effort. Get the habit. It is the little things that count and if on the other side of helpfulness the world would be changed ere the influence causing it could be recognized.—Greenville Banner.

TEDDY TESTIFIES
FOR FIVE HOURS

Tells What He Believed to Be the Inside Story of Boss Rule in Empire State.

Syracuse, N. Y., April 22. — Theodore Roosevelt spent five hours on the witness stand in the supreme court here Wednesday in the telling of what he said he believed to be the inside story of machine politics and boss rule in New York state. By so doing the former president hoped to convey to the jury which is trying the suit William Barnes brought against him for alleged libel, the impression that he was entirely justified in criticizing Mr. Barnes as he did.

Alleged Ironclad Agreement.
He swore that he had been reliably informed that the "Murphy Democrats" and the "Barnes Republicans," the latter under the leadership of Mr. Barnes, united on more than one occasion to defeat the plans of independent men of both parties in the state legislature.

And Mr. Barnes told William Loeb, Jr., the witness emphatically declared, that he had an ironclad agreement with Charles F. Murphy of Tammany Hall, to allow the latter a free hand to select a United States senator. Mr. Loeb was private secretary to Col. Roosevelt when he was president and later he was collector of the port of New York.

The witness told in great detail of his dealings with the late Senator Platt, the man he had described as the "easy boss." Platt, the colonel asserted, attempted to dictate the man he, as governor of the state of New York, should appoint to be superintendent of public works.

"But," said Colonel Roosevelt, with a considerable display of pride, "when I told Mr. Barnes of the conversation I added I didn't intend any man should say whom I should appoint to office."

Mr. Barnes, however, sided with Mr. Platt, saying that the leader of the organization should have complete control of it, the witness swore.

Tells of Conversations.

The colonel gave out what he represented to be the details of his conversations with and what he had been informed were the actions of Mr. Barnes in regard to direct primaries legislation, race track legislation and opposition by the Republican machine to Gov. Hughes.

He related, too, the information former Gov. Sulzer and his investigator, John A. Hennessy, gave him regarding alleged corruption in certain state departments. And, as a conclusion, he denied that he held any malice toward Mr. Barnes and added that he considered he was championing the cause of good government against bipartisan boss rule when he caused the publication of the offending statement.

During his stay on the stand Wednesday the colonel seemed to be even more at his ease than he was Tuesday. He argued with Mr. Barnes' attorneys, who constantly interrupted him with objections. He pounded upon the judge's bench with his fist. He brought the palms of his hands together with resounding slaps.

One instant the expression on his face was solemn and the next it was jovial.

WOMAN MAYOR WARNS

NEW HEAD OF CITY SAYS POOL BALLS AND BOWLING ALLEYS MUST GO.

Warren, Ill., April 22.—No longer will the village champion shoot the "6 ball" into the right corner pocket and admiring lookers mentally applaud his prowess; no longer will about arise when some lucky, or talented bowler makes a "ten strike" in Warren—if Mrs. A. R. Canfield has her way. And she ought to have her way, for she's been elected mayor of the village; she's 74, has been a detective and has determined to reform the place. "Pool balls and bowling alleys must go," says Mrs. Canfield.

Forest Fires Still Rage.
Carlisle, Pa., April 22.—Damage approximating $125,000 has been caused by mountain fires in Cumberland county. Fanned by a high wind the flames continue to spread and at a late hour last night menaced the villages of Pinegrove, Hunters Run and Mt. Holy. The entire state forest reserve of 20,000 acres near Pinegrove has been burned over. A big house and 20 cottages at Laurel have been destroyed.

Steers Stamped, Hurt Seven.

Evansville, Ind., April 22.—Seven persons were injured when a herd of steers broke from the men who were taking it to a slaughter house and stampeded through the northern part of Evansville. One of the steers charged a group of children in a school yard, another entered a dwelling house and wrecked the interior, while a third invaded a queensware shop.

SONG FOR THE YOUTH

Gather all the sweet of May
Look it tenderly away of feet
Precious night and perfect day.
Make a trove of shining things,
Roses, raindrops, dreams and wings,
Catch a skylark while he sings!

Gather all the summer's sweet,
Hush of heaven, and stars of night,
Stars that dance on silver feet!
While thy breath is young and warm
While love nestles in thy arm,
Take thy trove and weave a charm!

Then grow old with gallant east,
For I'm told such tales as these—
Make the fairest memories!

69 Years to
Make a Suit

Back in 1846 the makers of Clothcraft began to manufacture medium-priced clothes for men and young men.

Their idea was to keep in that field—about $10 to $20—and make the best possible clothes for the money.

This sticking at it for 69 years has produced extraordinary results through continuous advancement of factory methods, improved machines, training of workers and so on.

We haven't any more hesitation in investing in Clothcraft Clothes than we would in buying gilt edged securities.

We know what you'll say when you see Clothcraft 5130 Blue Serge Special at $15 and the other spring models at $10 to $20. Come in today.
